

The Good Food for Glasgow Charter

From the Glasgow Food Policy Partnership

We believe good food is an essential part of making Glasgow a great city.

As well as being tasty, healthy, affordable and accessible to all, our food should be good for the planet, for animals, for those involved in growing, making and selling it, and for our whole community.

Sign up to this charter today and help us make Glasgow a city where:

- Everyone has access to fresh, fair, healthy, affordable food;
- Growing and cooking food brings communities together;
- The local food economy is thriving;
- We can all enjoy and celebrate diverse, tasty and healthy food; and
- Our food is produced and disposed of in a way that's good for the environment as well as us.

Visit <http://www.goodfoodforall.co.uk> to sign up to show your support, to find out more about why our city needs your help, and to download tips on what you or your organisation can do to make this vision a reality.

This Charter was created by the Glasgow Food Policy Partnership - a group of representatives from a whole host of sectors, working to find ways to make good food a reality for everyone. It's the result of lots of discussion and consultation with a range of organisations, people and communities living and working across the city.

We want to celebrate all the great work being done across Glasgow already and inspire others to make real change happen – so sign up to the charter today and get involved.
