

GFPP member bios

Name:	Jill Muirie
Organisation:	Glasgow Centre for Population Health
Job title:	Public Health Programme Manager
Relevant links:	http://www.gcph.co.uk/
Briefly describe your experience as it relates to GFPP:	Jill Muirie grew up in Glasgow, graduated with a BSc in Economics and Biotechnology from Strathclyde University, and worked as a food technologist for before studying for her Masters in Public Health at the University of Glasgow. She is currently a Public Health Programme Manager at the Glasgow Centre for Population Health, working on sustainable food and food insecurity as part of her Urban Health remit. As part of this Jill is involved in a range of projects relating to food insecurity, sustainable food, and schools based work on food and is a member of the Glasgow Food Policy Partnership.
What are your aspirations for GFPP:	That it supports a more integrated and high profile approach to sustainable food in Glasgow: that it helps move Glasgow closer to becoming a city where everyone is able to eat food that is accessible, affordable, tasty and healthy, good for the planet and good for those who work in the food industry.